Full Stack Developer Currently working as a freelance full stack developer, creating institutional websites, e-commerce, and product demo pages. On the front-end, I work with Next.js, React, and TypeScript, using Tailwind CSS and Framer Motion to create modern and dynamic interfaces. On the back-end, I use Node.js to develop efficient and scalable APIs, integrating with MongoDB/NoSQL as a database. I have experience in implementing interactive features, authentication, integrations with external APIs, and performance optimization, ensuring robust and high-performance applications.
